

VIRTUAL SEMINAR

CLINICAL CASE :

A bulb factory caught fire and some people were injured due to burns and trauma. Additionally, a thick smoke was released for many hours after the incident, and many people were exposed to the fumes. There was tension, anger, and fear among civilians, and authorities were asking for guidance on what they should do. Samples were collected from the field for analysis; however, the results were different among agencies. As a result, the Poison Information Center was asked to urgently stabilize the situation and treat the patients”.
